“Today there are a lot of people going to college, which means many students with similar degrees are entering the job market. Participating in the Mount in Washington program will give me an edge over the competition and make me more marketable. I am hoping to gain a lot of experience to complement my studies.”

Your Questions Answered

WHAT DOES THE PROGRAM INVOLVE?
Students intern, live and learn in Washington, D.C., for a semester. You would work at your chosen internship four days a week as well as attend a coordinating class or seminar. The program provides fully furnished apartments with easy access to public transportation.

WILL I RECEIVE CREDIT FOR THE PROGRAM?
Students earn 12 to 15 credits from the Mount.

WHO CAN APPLY?
Juniors and seniors in any major are eligible, as well as second-semester sophomores with special permission. A minimum 2.50 GPA is required.

HOW MUCH DOES IT COST?
Students pay regular Mount tuition to the university. The Mount housing fee is waived and students pay the Washington program directly for their housing.

WHAT ABOUT FINANCIAL AID?
Students receive any scholarships they’ve already been granted, just as during a normal semester. You can apply for additional scholarship funds from the program when you apply for your internship.

WHAT ARE THE DEADLINES?
Contact the Mount’s Career Center in January to plan for the fall semester, and in September for the spring semester.

I’M INTERESTED! WHAT DO I DO NEXT?
Contact the Career Center for help researching the best program for you and applying for credit from your department.
